Study remotely in our virtual classroom

NEBOSH National General Certificate Virtual classroom course programme

What's new?

If you haven't looked recently at what NEBOSH has to offer, it's worth looking again. Its most popular certificate level programme – the National General Certificate (NGC) – now has a streamlined syllabus that lends itself particularly well to delivery in virtual classroom format.

Assessment is now much simpler too. While the practical assessment (NG2) remains largely the same, the two written papers have been replaced with a single open book exam (NG1) which is completed online on a specified date.

The result is a much more flexible, open and accessible course that will appeal to everyone, not just those who excel in examination conditions.

Syllabus

- Why we should manage workplace health and safety
- How health and safety management systems work and what they look like
- Managing risk – understanding people and processes
- Health and safety monitoring and measuring
- Physical and psychological health
- Musculoskeletal health
- Chemical and biological agents
- General workplace issues
- Work equipment
- Fire
- Electricity

Virtual tutorial dates

11, 18, 25 Aug
1, 8, 14, 25, 29 Sep
2 Oct (optional revision session)

Who the course is for

This qualification is designed for anyone (managers, supervisors and workers) in any type of organisation. It's ideal for anyone who needs a broad understanding of health and safety issues to be able to manage day-to-day risks effectively.

You don't need to have studied any IOSH or other course previously, though you may find it helpful. Many people take the National General Certificate in Occupational Health and Safety (NGC) as a first step in a career in health and safety. It gives a valuable overview and is a sound basis for further professional study.

Assessment

Unit NG1: Online open book examination

The open book examination (OBE) enables you to sit your NEBOSH assessment on your own, usually in your own home or another safe and suitable location where you can concentrate. In a NEBOSH OBE you will have up to 24 hours to complete your paper – though you should be able to complete the examination in 5-8 hours. To help you during the OBE you can use resources such as notes, textbooks, learning materials and online resources.

Candidate completion of the NG1 is verified by a virtual discussion with one of our course tutors to confirm the OBE was completed in line with NEBOSH requirements.

NG1 examination date: 4 October 2023

Unit NG2: Practical assessment

A comprehensive risk assessment project needs to be completed in your workplace and uploaded within ten working days of completing NG1.

Virtual classroom: learning remotely, but not alone

Studying in our virtual classroom means you can complete your whole NEBOSH National General Certificate course remotely, without the need to attend a physical classroom or examination centre.

The course is delivered via a combination of live tutor webinars and interactive group exercises. Held one day a week for eight weeks, these sessions are designed to stimulate peer-to-peer learning and encourage you to apply knowledge to real-world scenarios.

Your tutor will be on hand to provide one-to-one support, and to give feedback on exercises and mock examination questions to help you check you're on track.

A host of online resources is also available to you in the form of interactive exercises, videos, sources of information, and an extended case study to put you in the shoes of a health and safety professional with some problems to solve.

Included with your course, you also receive a copy of the NEBOSH National General Certificate Study Guide, a comprehensive colour reference book from RMS Publishing to support self-learning.

We use Microsoft Teams to run live tutor-led webinars in our virtual classroom, to lead discussion and stimulate group work.
